SKILLS

• Time management:

I was required to manage my time wisely to accommodate practices and workouts throughout the entire year. I learned to stay highly organized and developed endurance to keep my academic performance at a high level

• Ability to work under pressure:

I played high-level sport for 8 years and it got me used to perform at my best in terms of concentration and effort in the most critical situations and, therefore, in managing my emotions

• Self-motivation and adaptability:

I lived for one year in California as an exchange student during high school and I am attending a university in a foreign country; these experiences required me to organize everything by myself and to fit in socio-cultural and scholastic-academic contexts very different from my home country
